CAP Sets Contest

All BYU students with a flair for writing or poster making will have a chance to demonstrate their abilities by entering contests sponsored by Utah County's Community Action Program.

Two separate contests, essay competition and poster drawing, are events leading up to Utah County CAP Day on May 2.

The posters will be printed in several local newspapers and the best poster will be reproduced and placed on more than 100 store windows throughout Utah County.

Both winners will be presented awards of excellence by Governor Rampton on CAP Day. In addition, all of the posters will be displayed at the Eldred Center on CAP Day.

The theme of the essay contest is a statement by John D. Rockefeller: "The world owes no man a living, but it owes every man an opportunity to make a living." The length of the essays should be from 350 to 500 words, and they will be judged basically on content and style.

Essays should be submitted to Dr. Soren Cox, Director of freshman English, A-210, Jesse Knight Bldg., no later than April 15.

The theme of the poster contest is CAP's slogan, "A Hand Up—Not a Hand Out."

Students desiring more information about CAP in order to enter the contests may call CAP's office, at 374-6555.

'Strangest Sounds'

Audience response will determine the winner at Wednesday's "Strangest Sounds Around Contest, or So Your Mommy Wanted You to Play the Violin."

The contest-concert is scheduled for 8:10:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom. It is a pillow concert—bring your own pillow or sit on the floor.

Prizes in the contest are: first place, $100; second place, $50; and third and fourth places, $25 each.

Among the groups scheduled to play are an all-girl rock band from Salt Lake City; Holden Caulfield: The Soul Experience; The Phenomenal Electronic Noise Orchestra; Sgt. Clever's Little Beavers; Perpetual Motion; and many others.

Before the concert students with unusual pillows can enter into competition. Judging will be at 5 p.m. in the Wilkinson Center Reception Area. Competitors should plan to bring their pillows to the Reception Area shortly before 5 p.m.

Wednesday at five places on campus.

Voting booths will be set up in the McKay Bldg., Jesse Knight Bldg., Wilkinson Center, Cannon Center and Desert Center. The booths open at 9 a.m. and close at 4:30 p.m.

The three amendments going before the student body would do the following, if all are passed:

—require presidential candidates to select their running mates for executive vice president and provide for their joint election.

—stipulate that Supreme Court justices be approved by a two-thirds majority of the combined Executive Council and Cabinet before appointment by the ASBYU president.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

—give the ASBYU president the power to administer public relations for the student body.

—establish the Cabinet, made up of the four members along with the president of the senior class automatically becoming president of the Cabinet. The rules of order would be decided by the Cabinet itself. The Cabinet would also have to meet twice each month.

—require that all cabinet- or class-sponsored programs involving the student body at large be coordinated under the direction of the Executive Council.

—eliminate the vice presidents, and secretaries from the senior, junior and sophomore classes—leaving only the freshman class with those officers.

Fool, That Which Seemeth Is Not

As time hath passed, I deem it not foolish to consider the role that the fool playeth in heightening our sense of that which someone hath chosen to call "foolish." And it is only after "much ado about nothing" that I happily concur with the musings of Huck Finn regarding the silly matter: Let us be the fools for fools. But for PAXMAN them the rest of us could not succeed!!

But lest ye fools be fooled thinking ye are not, perhaps a definitive statement as to what a fool seemeth to be would serve your trusted sense of propriety. Foolishly? A fool is one who cometh a fool to a person who perceiveth the domain of intellectual speculation and diffuses himself through the channels of moral activity. He is omniscient, omnipotent, omniscient, omnipotent."

Though it appeareth that few among us would qualify for a doctorate of foolosophy, he ye not deceived. For foolery doth, as Master Shakespeare indicateth, "walk around the orb (which I hath taken to mean "campus") as the sun; it shineth everywhere."

But lo! Hath this been the source of the highly revered illumination? Hath this been the reason that by which we have been spared the night of oblivion? Hath this been the spark of brilliance which hath heretofore warmed the noonday of our existence? If one affirmeth these, we are all subjects of enlightened fools. It is a phenomena which surpasseth all understanding. Shaggy. Shaggy. Shaggy.

Opinion hat it that this be Zion's case. Thus cometh heath byronicalized that, "Fools are these, let satyre be their song. Therefore, I'll publish right or wrong." With further resolve, and an eye bent on printing by which we are accredited, he poetically stateth, "I'll print it and shame the fools!"

But such debauchery shall not be tolerated, even if it is the truth. So for giving due credit, he was nearly dealt a footnote by those with feigned knowledge.

"You are a fool," proclaimed the wic.

"Better a witty fool than a foolish wit," he quietly surmised.

So for their own security and academic purity, they searched out all known sources of the truth. Hoping to ensnare those who cometh forth, they checked them off with numbered copies.

Such insidious race!

What ever brought us to this place?

Thinking that they knew, but knowing not, they pressed the issues into submission. And thus it was revealed to them: He who knows not and knows not that he knoweth not, is a fool. They pretended that they kneweth to whom the muse referred. But they kneweth not. The vice of never-falling fools prevaileth.

And so they playeth the fool. The theater expandeth; the prompter cometh to be many; the chorus growth great; the audience stand long waiting for the tragic fall. Stand up a frost, "Tis fool's play, this prattling!"

I shoochoff myself and thought, "What bees these mortals fool!"

The vision vanished out of sight and swiftly shrunk away.

And straight I alighted unto mind that it was All Fool's Day!

Repenteth. I was a fool to gibe at them. Lo! I lieft flat and lovet them! Tæketh back foolish insight and returneth to the former goodly state.

Congressional Act Will Help Control Violence

As violent acts by a small group of adolescent revolutionaries are continuing across the country in institutions of higher learning, the question has arisen of whether or not the federal government should become involved in quieting the scenes of disruption and bring calm back to the academic communities.

A letter sent to presidents of the institutions of higher education by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare last week mentions a number of provisions enacted by the 90th Congress into law which provide for the withdrawal of various forms of federal support to students found guilty of campus disorders.

This act will give institutions of learning some leverage in controlling the disruptive tactics employed by revolutionaries.

The provisions are not designed to give government more power over the academic community, but to enable the separate institutions to better control the environments by cutting off sources of aid of those disrupters.

Following is the student unrest provisions by the Departments of Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare Appropriation Act, 1969 (Public Law 90-557).

Sec. 411. No part of the funds appropriated under this Act shall be used to provide a loan, guarantee of a loan or a grant to any applicant who has been convicted by any court of general jurisdiction of any crime which involves the use of or the assistance to others in the use of force, trespass or the seizure of property under control of an institution of higher education to prevent officials or students at such an institution from engaging in their duties or pursuing their studies.

HIGHER EDUCATION AMENDMENTS OF 1968 (PUBLIC LAW 90-575)

Eligibility for Student Assistance

SEC. 504. (a) If an institution of higher education determines, after affording notice and opportunity for hearing to an individual attending or employed by such institution, that such individual has willfully refused to obey a lawful regulation or order of such institution after the date of enactment of this Act, and that such refusal was of a serious nature and contributed to a substantial disruption of the administration of such institution, then such institution shall deny, for a period of two years, any further payment to, or for the direct benefit of, such individual under any of the programs specified in subsection (c).

(b) If an institution of higher education determines, after affording notice and opportunity for hearing to an individual attending or employed by such institution, that such individual has willfully refused to obey a lawful regulation or order of such institution after the date of enactment of this Act, and that such refusal was of a serious nature and contributed to a substantial disruption of the administration of such institution, then such institution shall deny, for a period of two years, any further payment to, or for the direct benefit of, such individual under any of the programs specified in subsection (c).

(c) The programs referred to in subsections (a) and (b) are as follows:

(1) The student loan program under title II of the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

(2) The educational opportunity grant program under part A of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

(3) The student loan insurance program under part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

(4) The college work-study program under part C of title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

(5) Any fellowship program carried on under title II, III, or V of the Higher Education Act of 1965 or title IV or VI of the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

(d) (1) Nothing in this Act, or any Amended by this Act, shall be construed to prohibit any institution of higher education from refusing to award, continue, or extend any financial assistance under any such Act to any individual because of any misconduct which in its judgment bears adversely on his fitness for such assistance.

INTOLERANCE SHOWS EDITOR:

I was pleased to know that Miss Thomas would not recommend that Julian Bond, Ralph Abernathy, and Dr. Martin Luther King. Her obvious ignorance and intolerance of these men was showing. There is very little that Khorf and Rev. Abernathy share in common.

One was an Anti-Christ, the other a disciple of Christ. Sen. Bond and Rev. Abernathy deserve to be struck dumb. People like Miss Thomas exaged when Joseph Smith told the world he had a vision.

Fortunately there were those who felt differently, even though they may not have believed the Prophet. There are many well-meaning, but falsely informed students at BYU.

A misinterpretation of Elder Peters' statement concerning communism and civil rights causes some to believe that the civil rights movement is a big communist plot.

Communism takes advantage of independent, Disciplina proceeding pursuant to existing authority, practice and law.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the freedom of student to verbal expression individual views or opinions.

These acts should better enable public institutions to control disruptions that are taking place on the campuses. Certainly some steps need to be taken to counter the growing trend to revolt—and first step is a good move forward.

situations that could cause him to the United States (such peaceful demonstrations that turned into riots). The civil rights movement could and did accomplish much.

Nevertheless, for the most part religious leaders such as Rev. Abernathy are God-fearing men who wish to make America a better place. Is it asking too much to allow over 10 per cent of the population to have equal opportunity and freedom that the majority enjoy?

Coeds Battle Security At Heritage

By Holly Smith

Local police averted a riot at Kimball Hall last night when a disruptive element was at the hall, according to reversal of earlier pipes and the subsequent closing of the entire hall.

Girls became inflamed upon learning that for an outside duty, entire group of resident hall were to rebrick the hall.

Bricks and bricks began to fall from the building after the last exchange. Fifteen-footers were placed in the hall for once, and the resulting noise dancing caused numerous injuries in the building to date.

"It can't care if it was our fault—hey—that's a pain!—this going too far," stated one legged coed.

Girls were informed of the fact they were to perform, trouble did not begin until day when the cement bags and bathtubs, I just couldn't take it!"

Actual fighting broke out when the various apartments learned that they had flunked housecheck because of cluttered apartments. Insurgents confessed they had been motivated by the Che Guevara-type University columns of the campus firebrand.

Passers-by first noted trouble when they saw bricks, cement and a few damaged bathtubs and closets flying off the balconies. The hall residents, mortified into their apartments, were helpless at press time, still being blasted out of their apartment.

As stated earlier, the riot was halted only by a quick-thinking security officer reversing the water pipes and flooding the girls out of the building.

As stated earlier, the riot was halted only by a quick-thinking security officer reversing the water pipes and flooding the girls out of the building.

However, damage was inflicted upon the structure when the quick-drying cement dried in huge piles all over the hall after mixing with the water.

After a quick family council was held, it was decided that for punishment, the girls would have to chip away the cement. This proving too tedious, the girls are now sculpting the cement into busts of their favorite Heritage Halls founders.

WQS Gets P.O.T.Y.

Professor Walmut Q. Snarf has garnered this year's coveted P. O. T. Y. (Professor of the Year) award. Prof. Snarf is the popular Marine Biology mentor here at the "Y."

He has been on the inside track for this award all year. At the outset of this school term, Snarf outlined a four-point program from which he never deviated, designed to assure him the award.

First, while most professors only take up one spot in the student parking lot, Snarf parks parallel so as to occupy as many as three spots at once.

Second, WQS (as he is affectionately known by his students) has maintained a "no-curve" grading scale on all tests. The class average is generally about 95%.

Third, the prof required six texts for his class last semester. Together, the six volumes cost $74.82 plus tax. The only work used, however, was a $1.95 study guide. The BYU Bookstore refused to repurchase any of the texts.

Fourth, Snarf conscientiously avoided being in his office during office hours throughout the year.

In awarding the honor to Prof. Snarf, the selection committee said, "We don't want another profs' feelings left out. After all, Snarf is typical of all professors; it's just that he's MORE typical."

Helmut Gruber Reigns As Top Sweet Spirit

By Jim Hunt
University Clod

Helmut Gruber, senior in Guided Studies from Boring, Ore., has been named Student of the Week by the Sweet Spirit Committee of Kimball Hall.

Miss Hall, a committee chairman, said Gruber was chosen because "he best exemplifies the vacuousness of his thoughts processes. I intend to create most of the HELMUT tritteness our committee stands for."

Gruber currently manages to maintain a 3.8 GPA, despite a work load of two hours per semester. In addition, he has great pride in his 3.76 ERA for his ward softball team.

Helmut is active in Young Democrats, YAF, the John Birch Society and the Beta Alpha chapter of Students for a Democratic Society. "I try for a middle-of-the-road outlook," he says.

Helmut says he would like to be a returned missionary, "but I haven't finished repeating yet."

Like most BYU students, Helmut enjoys his spring semester Lownology class. He claims he is seriously engaged to Judy Geissler, but she has yet to give him their permission until she is 21.

Musically-minded, Helmut enjoys dancing and listening to music whenever possible. "Guy Lombardo is too groovy for words," he says. "That guy really turns me on."

Helmut is intensely patriotic. As soon as he graduated from his school, he entered the Merchant Marine "to be where the action is."

A sports car buff to the end, Helmut drove in the recent Panquitch 500 in his new Saab. For formal occasions, he drives a powerful 1969 Studebaker Lark.

Recently, Helmut began plans for the initiation of a German-American Student Union. This will be an activist group, he says to try to institute a program of German Cultural Heritage on campus, and arms spreadle in the cafeteria.

"We're going to form a two-school athletic conference with New Mexico," he asserts.

But the next important plan in his future is a libel suit he filed last week against UNIVERSE columnist Jerry Garrett.

Athletes Feats'

Swing Into...

By Roger Gillespie

Sports Editor

Spring, in all her glorious splendor, has sprung. And with it comes man's favorite sport—girl watching. Hypocrysy you cry. Sports editors, especially engaged ones should leave such things to those better qualified to discuss them. Perhaps, but though the resident hustler of the fifth floor is about to go the way of all flesh, he has not yet gone. Hence the right to comment on such splendid activities (sport?) has not yet passed either.

Now then, back to the subject at hand. As those who have strayed through Heritage on a Saturday afternoon know, it would take a superman (or a nut) not to notice some of the fair blossoms brought out by the sun. And superman I am not (nor a nut), I might add for those who were wondering.)

And with the advent of spring came cries of delirium from most of those who call Cougarville home. Only the Eskimos seemed genuinely disturbed. One student however, the length of hair made classification as to sex impossible, was seen quietly breaking up his skis into small pieces and setting fire to them.

But on the brighter side, one young maiden, (you could tell by the tone of her voice that it was a gal) was seen wheeling her honda across campus babbling "It's here, it's here." Her enthusiasm, while unexpected, was nonetheless refreshing. You see, at this time of year a deep melancholy usually hits many students. Most have already given up hope of ever seeing the sun again. Some have even forgotten that one exists. The main exceptions to this group, of course, are those from California who saw it over semester break a few months (even if it was in the liquid form.)

But on to more important things. This weekend signaled an end to such activities as wrestling (BYU was second in the conference and 27th in the NCAAs), gymnastics (the Cougar gym squad picked up a third place in the WAC meet last weekend) swimming, (Cat paddlers also did well by placing second in the WAC losing only to Utah) and of course basketball (once again the Cougars did well picking up a share of the league title and whipping Wyoming in the play-offs.)

SPRING SPORTS

But that doesn't mean that sports is about to get lost amidst all the other campus activities. Indeed, if anything, the pace will pick up for the next two months. Leading the way this spring is the Cougar baseball squad. After winning the WAC last year and tasting collegiate world series action for the first time, the Cougar horseiders show definite promise of repeating that feat and doing even better in the nationals.

Track comes next with coach Clarence Robinson's charges touted as one of the three pretenders to the WAC spike championship. The Cougars are defending champs and figure to get their toughest competition from new member Texas-El Paso, and New Mexico.

The BYU entry on the golf course doesn't figure to get embarrassed by anyone this year either. Even though Cougar All-American Johnny Miller is gone, freshman Ray Leach plus others point to a strong though inexperienced crew.

The last major spring sport is tennis and once again (sorry to sound like a broken record) the Cougars look strong. BYU whipped Utah last week in a dual match and it was Utah who was supposed to waltz to the WAC crown. The Cougars are sparked by Yugoslavian Zdravko Mincek and Larry Hall who have been placing in the top spots on the six-man squad. The play of senior Don Lowe has also been a key factor in the beginning of any title hopes the Cougar have. Leon Don has worked his way up to the third spot and is threatening Mincek and Hall.

But the list does not stop there. Springtime also brings rugby, soccer, spring football plus all the intramural activities now available because of the sunny skies.

CIRCLE COMPLETE

At last the circle is complete. And it brings us back to the point we began—Namely man's favorite sport. And even though one or two of us fade into oblivion by leaving the ranks of confirmed girl watchers, I have no doubt that there will be plenty to take our places and man's favorite sport will remain exactly that.

Keglers Set Series Mark

The BYU Womens' Bowling team shattered an Intermountain Bowlers Conference record by rolling a 996 series as both the mens' and womens' teams retained their second places in the IBC this past weekend.

The five-member womens' team included Sue Peterson, who bowled a 199 in the series; Becky Anderson, who also bowled a 199; Becky Hogan 193, Kathy Schultz 160, and Bev Empey, 158.

The weekend matches, against Idaho State and Ricks College, ended the regular conference season for BYU.

Y Ruggers Win One, Lose One

Both BYU rugby squads saw action Saturday as the 'A's defeated the Bountiful Rugby Club 10-0 and the 'B's lost to the University of Utah 8-3.

The injury-ridden 'A's didn't get on the score board until well through the second half. Jim Grant pursued a loose ball into the end zone and fell on it for the first Cougar try. Wally Josephs converted.

Soon after Bill Brink performed the same scoring routine. With the conversion by Dale Johnson the game ended in a 10-0 victory over Bountiful.

BYU 'B' played well but succumbed to a rugged University of Utah squad. The game was stalemate until the beginning of the second half when Bob Wilson scored on a penalty goal to give the 'B' squad a momentary lead.

The University of Utah roared back with two tries and a conversion to beat BYU 'B' 8-3.

Sam Hanna and Jerry Cook, playing in their first rugby game, were cited for their aggressive play.

Do you chronically munch on ice? Well, if you eat as much as a tray of ice daily, it may indicate that you are suffering from an odd ailment called pagophagia. Its victims suffer from an iron deficiency and if given small quantities of that nutrient they lose their abnormal appetite for ice.

Having trouble with your hearing? That might be because too much waxy cholesterol is clogging the blood vessels in the inner ear hearing bones, and it could be a warning of an impending heart attack or stroke. Book Review ...

Problems-Education

The issue of "relevance" in the university curriculum is questioned by Jacques Barzun in his new book along with other educational clichés which he believes are obscuring the real problems confronting higher education.

The book is entitled "The American University: How It Runs, Where It Is Going."

The idea that a curriculum can be contrived that will always be relevant to the present and the future is an illusion, says Barzun.

Deploying the emphasis on subjects which have a practical application to life, he says, "If a university is not to become an educational weather-vane, a sort of wacky moral compass, orally aging PhD's it must avoid all 'relevance' of the obvious sort."

Today the university is under attack from all quarters, and Barzun believes that the real problem lies in the fact that it is being expected to fulfill too great a variety of functions.

"A big corporation has replaced the once self-centered company of scholars and students who thereby put itself at the mercy of many publics, unknown to one another and contradictory in their demands," writes Barzun.

In his book he reveals how the university actually works, the dangers facing it and the radical reforms it requires.

Jacques Barzun has grown up with the university as a teacher and administrator since the 1920s.

Cool Reaction

PARIS (AP)—South Vietnamese sources reacted coolly Monday to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's statement that he would be prepared to see Communists in a freely elected coalition government in South Vietnam.

These sources said they had not seen the text of Laird's interview in U.S. News and World Report, but they stressed the provision of the Vietnamese constitution barring Communists from taking part in elections.

They said the Saigon government regarded the National Liberation Front as definitely Communist even though the NLF had never admitted Communist ideology. They said it would be up to the courts to decide whether they were Communists, if they sought to enter an election.

The sources said that if individual members of the NLF wanted to enter an election as non-Communists, and if they were willing to follow peaceful democratic procedures, they would be accepted.

The four delegations to the Vietnam peace talks were shaping up plans for Thursday's formal session, possibly without U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, in Washington for the funeral of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Agreement

LONDON (AP)—Britain has reached a preliminary agreement with local leaders in Anguilla, the Foreign Office announced Monday night.

A spokesman said the agreement had been worked out by Lord Caradon, Britain's representative at the United Nations now on Anguilla, and local leaders, including the self-styled Anguillian president, Ronald Webster.

"Lord Caradon has reached some kind of agreement with the Anguilla Council," the spokesman said. "We are not entirely sure yet of the precise details."

16. London's Cabin To Be Rebuilt

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—It

couldn't have cost much when author Jack London's cabin was built. But it's going to cost $18,000 to rebuild it.

The 18-foot wide cabin, which was built in 1908, was destroyed in a fire last year. It was located on a hillside overlooking

Dawson City in Canada's Yukon and set it up in Jack London Square, a redeveloped waterfront area.

The San Francisco-born, Oakdale-raised writer inscribed on its door "Author, Miner, January 27, 1878" after he dropped out of the University of California and joined the Alaska gold rush.
